THE PROGRAMME

Of Proceedings in the House and Senate This Week.

The Annexation of Hawaii Will Be Taken Up by the Senators.

The Immigration and Census Bills Will Likely Be Called Up Also—The Civil Service Debate in the House Will Be Concluded Probably Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Interest in the senate proceedings for the week centers in the promised debate of the treaty for the annexation of Hawaii, which will be taken up Monday. Senator Davis has given notice that he will move an executive session of the senate for consideration of the treaty each day until the treaty shall be finally disposed of. The first effort on Monday will be to secure open doors for the debate. This motion will be made by Senator Pettigrew, of the opposition, but there is no likelihood that it will carry.

This prevailing opinion is that the debate will not be prolonged on the treaty, but theories as to the length of time vary all the way from a week to a month. The opposition to the treaty asserts that they have no disposition to prolong the discussion, owing to their confidence in their ability to defeat the treaty. They claim 35 votes in opposition, and state that among these there will be more than one republican. Senator Morrill adheres to his original determination to oppose the ratification-resolution, and he is preparing a speech on that side of the question. The name of Senator Money on the democratic side is added to the list of supporters of the treaty making five democrats who will certainly favor annexation. Senator Butler, populist, whose position has not heretofore been generally known Sunday announced himself as opposed to ratification.

It may be accepted as true that if the opponents of annexation become thoroughly convinced that they can secure the one-third vote necessary to accomplish that end, they will allow the vote to come without delay, reserving any dilatory tactics to which they may be disposed to resort for use in connection with the consideration of the joint resolution for annexation, which would follow the defeat of the treaty. This resolution would require only a majority vote, and it is conceded on all hands that the annexationists have the necessary majority.

In open session the calendar presents many subjects that may receive attention, including especially the investgration bill and the census bill, the latter affording a basis for speeches upon the civil service. Senator Fairbanks has given notice of a speech on the immigration bill on Tuesday, and Senator Butler will speak on his resolution providing for the election of federal judges by the people some day during the week.

The civil service debate, which has been in progress in the house during the past week, will be concluded, probably on Tuesday, when the vote will be taken on a motion to strike out the appropriation for the maintenance of the commission. The motion is foredoomed to defeat, so that the present contributions to the literature of this vexed question will eventuate in nothing. The debate however has served to define the position of the members. The debate has proven that comparative few of the enemies of the system are willing to go to the length of voting for the repeal of the law. It is claimed that a preliminary canvass of the republicans of the house has developed over 100 on the side who are willing to vote for a modification of the law. If with these could be combined the democratic opponents of the law, many of whom are against the entire law and desire to see it wiped off the statute books, they could probably command a majority. But quite a number of democrats whose hostility to the law is outspoken say they will not vote for modifications of the law which will simply result in the removal of democrats from office and the substitution of republicans.

They prefer, if it is not to be repealed, to see the law stand as it is. The entire populist strength will oppose every motion to repeal or modify the law. After the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill is out of the way either the agricultural or diplomatic consular bill will be taken up and an urgent deficiency bill will be ready so that the remainder of the week, except Saturday, set apart for paying tribute to the memory of the late Representative Milliken, of Maine, will be occupied by appropriation bills. The diplomatic and consular bill is very likely to cause extended debate on the pending foreign questions, Cuba, Hawaii, the situation in the Orient, etc., any one of which could be made a fruitful theme of discussion. It is understood to be the intention of the democrats to force the republicans to define the administration's position towards Cuba's independence during the debate.

New Postmasters for Ohio.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The president Monday sent the following appointments to the senate to be postmasters in Ohio: M. P. Brewer, Bowling Green; Onesimus P. Shaffer, Youngstown; John W. Stelle, Oberlin; Geo. E. Canning, Mt. Vernon; Oliver M. Greenbank, Woodsfield.

THE SECOND TIME

Gov. Asa Bushnell Reinaugurated as Governor of Ohio.

Many Thousands of Visitors in the Capital of the State.

The Oath of Office Administered by Chief Justice Burckett, of the Supreme Court—The Inaugural Address—Other Officers Take the Oath.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 10.—The weather here Monday was about as bad as it could be for an inauguration. The streets were covered with muddy slush, which the city fire department made vain attempts to wash off, and a heavy mist, with the temperature not far above the freezing point, completed the unfavorable condition of elements, and helped to add to the unpleasantness of Gov. Bushnell's second inauguration.

The probability of trouble and unusual scenes, however, brought great crowds to the city, to tramp about in this miserable slush, mud and mist. By ten o'clock the city streets were well filled with strangers.

Probably never before was so large a crowd called to Columbus on the occasion of an inauguration when so little demonstration in connection with the inauguration was made.

The intense interest in the senatorial situation, the call of Judge Nash for a mass meeting of the Hanna republicans, and the expected indignities upon Gov. Bushnell for his attitude in the senatorial election, conspired to swell the attendance far beyond the usual proportions.

The falling off in the attendance of military and civic organizations was more than compensated by the increased numbers of people who simply came to see the developments of the inauguration, and to take part in the mass meeting of republicans. Whether the influence of Senator Hanna and his friends was used to keep military and political clubs away from Gov. Bushnell's inauguration or not, it is known that many of these organizations that had arranged to come concluded not to come at the last minute, as a matter of prudence. They did not wish to seem to take sides in the intense factional fight into which the whole matter had developed.

The citizens of Columbus furnished quarters and meals for visiting military organizations at the auditorium, on Goodale street. There dinner was served to the members at 11:30 a. m., so that they might be sustained for the long march.

All organizations taking part in the parade reported on time, and the parade moved on directly after the ceremonies.

Gov. Bushnell's first term ended at high noon, and precisely at that hour the oath of office for his second term was administered to him by Chief Justice H. F. Burckett, of the supreme court.

Both the senate and house held short sessions Monday morning. The platform for the inauguration was placed this time on the north side of the rotunda of the capitol, blocking the great archway leading to the north wing.

Gov. Bushnell's inaugural address, in part, was as follows:

Having again been chosen as the chief executive of our beloved state, I have accepted the trust reverently, hopefully, and with an abiding faith in the patriotism of the people, believing that there will be support and loyalty for conscientious endeavor and earnest labor for the commonwealth.

From the day of Edwin Tiffin, who was the first to receive the trust of directing that which was to be a great ship of state, but which was then only the care of managing the centralized affairs of government of a small population, widely scattered, Ohio has gone onward in her march of progress a sure triumph over all obstacles as the advance of a food or some other irresistible force of a sure.

Let us consider the future with its hopes and promises, its aims and ambitions, its purposes and its processes. If a good result has been attained by those who have gone before, and if those of the present are striving to maintain the record, it is equally incumbent upon all who will serve the state and people to do their part. By so legislating and acting for the people to secure the best results with the least possible friction, much can be done to make the general respect for government higher and more enduring.

I wish you all good results in your endeavor to continue Ohio's success, for such I know your purpose will be. The duty may be difficult, but I am sure the result will commend itself to the majority.

Remember the glorious past of Ohio and her prestige in this evening of her century of history, and act wisely for the future, which can be so much good or evil for every one.

For myself it will be my purpose to act advisedly and justly in all things, to be conscious to the duty I owe the whole people, and to bend my best energies to the work of executing the trust placed in my hands with honesty and fidelity.

For that which I have done in the past in this service, you and your fellow-men must speak. Let me say, however, that it has ever been my sincere endeavor to discharge the duties of my high office in such a manner as to produce the best results possible under the circumstances.

An experience of two years has taught me that the administration of the duties of chief executive of this great state is not without its heavy responsibilities, and that there is an extended field for earnest labor. If I begin my second term of office with more confidence than I had two years ago, it is only because greater familiarity with the details has given me a guiding light. But to me the honor conferred still appears as a sacred trust, and, as in the beginning, I must first invoke the aid of the Supreme Being, and then ask the forbearance and good will of my fellow men.

The conclusion of Gov. Bushnell, and he accompanied Lieut. Gov. Jones and the senators to the senate chamber, where the oath of office was administered to the latter by Justice Burckett. Gen. Jones made a short speech to the senators upon taking his seat for the second term.

In the meantime, the other state officer who is inducted at this time—atorney general—had repaired to his office and taken the oath of office.

The inaugural party, state officers and members of the general assembly then took places in the reviewing stand which had been erected on the south side of Broad street, just north of the capitol building, and from this saw the parade as it passed in review.

SEMINOLE NATION.
An Alarming State of Riot Prevails and an Uprising May Result.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 10.—A special to the Republic from Muskogee, I. T., says: An alarming state of riot prevails in the Seminole nation, and unless immediate steps are taken by the United States authorities a bloody Indian uprising may result.

This is on account of the burning of two Indians by whites for the murder and outrage of Mrs. Leard, January 5. Late Sunday night Dr. C. P. Linn, chief physician of the Seminole nation, telegraphed to both Indian Agent Wisdom and Marshal Bennett for assistance in quelling the state of war that prevails in the nation. He confirmed the news of the state-burnings and gave the names of the sufferers, Lincoln McGressey and Palmer Samson, two young Seminoles.

Both the Indians came from respectable Seminole families and their fearful death has roused their friends and relatives to frenzy. Dr. Linn had just arrived from the scene of the burning and states that both bodies were burned and mutilated in a most horrible manner and are unrecognizable.

All the authorities here recognize that the situation is nearer bordering upon a dangerous Indian uprising than any in recent years and are taking prompt measures to quell it.

THE FRIENDS
Of Secretary Alger Disturbed Over His Prolonged Illness.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—A special to the Chronicle from Washington says: The members of the family and immediate friends of Secretary Alger are seriously disturbed about his illness. His physicians now fear that he has typhoid fever.

Gen. Alger has been confined to his bed for more than three weeks. At first it was thought he was suffering from la grippe, and he was treated accordingly. Ten days ago his physician concluded the trouble was due to material fever and since that time has treated him for that disease.

Sunday the dreaded symptoms of typhoid made their appearance, and while the doctors will not say it is a pronounced case of typhoid fever they are very apprehensive that it will turn out that way. They said Sunday night that the disease would be fully developed Monday if it is typhoid fever. Gen. Alger has lost flesh rapidly since he was first attacked.

PROSPEROUS FARMER,
His Wife and Young Daughter Found Murdered in Their Beds.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 10.—Francis D. Newton, a prosperous farmer of Brookfield, his wife Sarah and their adopted daughter Ethel, were found murdered in their beds Monday. The crime was discovered by neighbors whose curiosity was aroused by the howling of the unfed cattle. The three had been killed with an ax. A hired man who had been employed by Newton is missing and the authorities are making a search for him. He was known only by the name of Paul. He was last seen Friday night just before midnight more than a mile from the Newton house, going in the direction of Brookfield.

Newton was 45 years of age and his wife three years younger.

Georgia Militia Ordered Out.
DAWSON, Ga., Jan. 10.—A telegraphic command has been received here by Col. Varnadoe, of the Fourth regiment, from Gov. Atkinson, now in Mexico City, directing him to send a company of militia at once to Calhoun county to guard the courtroom while Jack Ingram, a white man, and three Negroes are being tried for the assassination of Julius Kling, a young planter, 150 of whose friends have sworn to avenge his death.

The Mystery Intensified.
RUTLEDGE, Ga., Jan. 10.—Rev. Robert Simmonds, who was supposed to have been murdered by W. H. Bray, who is in jail, appeared in town Saturday greatly to the astonishment of everybody. He had been shot on Bray's farm eight months ago, but fled and concealed himself. A body dug up on Bray's farm was identified as that of Simmonds, and now the mystery is intensified.

Will Be Taken Back to Iowa.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—George U. Adams was arrested here Monday and committed to await requisition papers from the authorities of Iowa. Adams was formerly in the employ of the American Express Co. at Sioux City, Ia., and it is said he absconded on May 29 last with a considerable amount of the company's funds. He has recently been living at Wilmington, Del.

Sutherland Electrocuted.
SING SING, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Hadley A. Sutherland, the Negro murderer, was electrocuted Monday. Seventeen hundred and eighty volts were turned on at 11:19 and turned off at 11:23 a. m. The crime for which Hadley Adolphus Sutherland was executed was committed in Brooklyn in March of last year and his victim was Mrs. Sarah Wrenn, his mistress.

Bridge Work Destroyed.

DISTRIBUTION

Of Needed Supplies to the Cuban Reconcentrados.

La Discussion Expresses Its Gratitude for This American Charity.

Insurgent Leader Nunez and Five Other Insurgents Reported to Have Surrendered—A Lunatic Runs Amuck in the Cathedral in Havana—Shots Fired.

HAVANA, Jan. 10.—Sunday at the residence of Dr. Villafra, of the special committee appointed by Senator Bruzon, governor of Havana, and Consul General Fitzhugh Lee, to superintend the work, took place the first distribution of supplies received from the United States consulate for the reconcentrados. La Discussion refers in phrases of profuse gratitude to this American charity. It published Sunday a special supplement, the proceeds of the sale of which will be turned over to the relief fund.

In a leading editorial La Discussion asks the insurgents, in the name of humanity and for the sake of their mothers, wives, sisters and children dying of starvation, to lay down their arms and to make peace with the government.

The insurgent leader, Anastasio Nunez, and five other insurgents have surrendered in the province of Santa Clara.

It is reported that the fierce criticisms that have appeared in El Reconcentrado on Senor Fernandez De Castro are inspired by Senor Bruzon, civil governor of Havana. They have caused much comment and created a division among the autonomists who are attacking each other.

About 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon while service was in progress in the cathedral, a man named Ramon Vives entered and fired several revolver shots.

The bullets struck the image of St. Peter, destroying the chalice and a hand.

The shooting caused the greatest alarm and the people dispersed amid wild confusion. Vives who was promptly disarmed by those near him, has been sent to a lunatic asylum.

BOTH CREMATORIES
Refuse to Handle the Remains of Theodore Durrant and No Cemetery Will Receive Them.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—There seems to be no place for the body of Theodore Durrant.

Both crematories here have absolutely refused to handle the remains and no cemetery has yet consented to receive them. They are still at the Durrant house and it looks as though they would stay there for some time. The elder Durrant said Sunday: "My efforts to carry out the last wishes of the dead boy have been unavailing. The crematories refuse to take the body and cemeteries are likewise reluctant. We may ship the remains to Los Angeles and have them cremated there, or we may take the body and bury it at sea. We do not know yet what we can do."

STRANGE CASE.
A Man Lies in a Comatose Condition for Three Years.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Three years and two months ago Wm. Gipp shot and killed his mother and wounded his father. Gipp was found shortly after the murder wandering around apparently demented. He was taken to police headquarters, where he fell into a trance. He was removed to the state hospital in this city and since that time has remained in a state of coma. Food was administered to him by the hospital attendants. Saturday morning Gipp surprised his keeper by arising from his bed and walking across the room. When spoken to he found great difficulty in framing an answer, but improved as the day wore on, and is now apparently on the road to complete recovery.

New and Interesting Happenings Within Our Borders.

BOTH BRANCHES

Of the General Assembly Hold Short Sessions—United States Senators to Be Elected by Direct Vote of People.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10.—SENATE—The Bramley fifty-year franchise bill was discussed Monday and an attempt was made to pass it under a suspension of the rules, but it was referred to a special committee and made the special order for 1 o'clock Tuesday, just before the balloting for senator begins. In the senate there was an effort to limit admission to the lobbies and galleries by tickets during the senatorial balloting, but it was lost. The senate took a recess till 1 p. m., when Lieut. Gov. Jones and other state officers were sworn in. A message was received from Gov. Bushnell officially advising the senate of the resignation of John Sherman as senator for the term ending March 4, 1899, and the appointment of Marcus A. Hanna to fill the vacancy.

HOUSE—In the House Monday a resolution was offered to amend the state constitution so that United States senators shall be elected by a direct vote of the people. The house adjourned till 10 o'clock Tuesday. Among the bills introduced in the house were the following: Raising the age at which child labor may be employed from 14 to 15 years and limiting their employment to eight hours per day; prohibiting employment of children under 15 years of age in mines; providing that all coal shall be weighed before screening, and the miner paid for total output; appropriating $50,000 to pay salary and expense of general assembly.

Detective Shot by a Crook.
CINCINNATI, Jan. 10.—A shooting affray occurred shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday night on East Eighth street hill. During the fusillade Detective "Bob" Moran received a gunshot wound, which went entirely through his body and which may prove fatal. The man who fired the shot was Herman Diehm, alias Ed. Meyers, one of the most desperate crooks known to the local police, whom he was attempting to arrest. Detective Moran died at 1:10 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The River on a Rampage.
CINCINNATI, Jan. 10.—The Ohio river is on a rampage here, caused by Sunday's big rain and the melting of the hillside snows. Licking was pouring out all day Sunday and is still showing a brisk current. The stage at Cincinnati Sunday morning was 17.7 and Monday morning the water works marks recorded 32 feet, showing a rise here since Sunday morning of nearly 15 feet. The greatest rise was Sunday night, when the swell was over nine feet.

Dog Saved One.
ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 10.—Eighty-year-old John Frampton was drowned in the Licking river here Saturday. He fell into the water and was sinking when his brother Clyde sprang to his assistance. A dog which was with the boys jumped into the water and brought the elder to shore, but the younger drowned before he could return.

Leaves Queens Fight Over a Lover.
SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 10.—Glenna Lewis and Clara Brown, levee queens, fought Sunday evening over George Hayes, the former's lover. Glenna carved the Brown girl frightfully about the head with a butcher knife. It required 30 stitches to sew up the wounds. Glenna Lewis was placed under arrest.
